NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES —DAY BY DAY—

THE HIGHLIGHTS And Other Information of Interest

FRIDAY, JULY 27

The Round Top service this evening was conducted by Dean Herbert W. Gates who spoke on the subject "I Press on with Christ." After the Round Top service, a communion and candle-light ceremony was held in Sage Chapel under the auspices of the Student Council. The deaconesses were: Grace L. Borgeon, Barbara L. Burns, Helen Holter, and Barbara Marcy; the deacons were Wilkins Cox, Elliott Gardner, George Livernore, Harry Shooshan, and Roger W. Walker.

At 4:30 this afternoon, the class in Dramatics and Pageantry presented a play entitled "Brothers" which was greatly enjoyed by the delegates. The production was under the direction of Miss Marion Brown, of the Second Baptist Church of Holyoke. Miss Brown has had a great deal of experience in the coaching of amateur theatricals.

A special three-day session for laymen under the leadership of John R. Mott will be a new feature marking the close of the annual Northfield General Conference to be held here August 1 to 12. Dr. Mott is now completing an extended trip through African mission territories as chairman of the International Missionary Council and is planning his return so as to be in Northfield during the closing days of the conference, particularly for the laymen's week-end, August 10 to 12.

SATURDAY, JULY 28

The 31st annual session of the Northfield Conference of Religious Education came to a close this morning with the graduation exercises which were held in Sage Chapel at 11:45. Dean Herbert W. Gates, of Boston, made a short address in which he urged the graduates to go into Christian teaching immediately and to make use of the inspiration and knowledge which they have gained during their stay at the conference.

Among the 62 delegates who received diplomas were: Mrs. Dorothy H. Norton and Mrs. Eva Lillian Gove Seely, both of Northampton; Shirley L. Prevost, Doris M. Reichert, and Mrs. Louise D. Urban, of Springfield; Mrs. Madeline G. Ashley, and Mrs. Helen E. Laidley, of Greenfield; and Elizabeth Louise Ward of Lenox. Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Seely received Standard diplomas, and the others received Northfield diplomas. A Standard represents double the number of credits as a Northfield diploma.

Dr. Gates, who has been Dean of the Conference for the past ten years, stated that this has been one of the most successful sessions in the history of the school.

GENERAL CONFERENCE

Wednesday, August 1

The 54th annual session of the Northfield General Conference officially opened this evening with a memorial service for the late William Revell Moody who occupied the chairmanship of this historic gathering for 32 years. The service was conducted by the Reverend Adam W. Burnet, and Wilfred W. Fry, president of the Northfield Schools, presided. Dr. Burnet is minister of the Westbourne Church, Glasgow, Scotland and has been a popular speaker at Northfield for many years.

Speaking of Mr. Moody, Dr. Burnet said:—"We have met to-night for a two-fold purpose—to look back and to look forward—for remembrance for faith, to thank God for Will Moody, and to avow our faith in God for the coming days. We remember him as being so steadfast and sincere, so warm-hearted and affectionate, so prayerful and so consecrated, and we express the gratitude of all that through the long years he had put into the conference so much work of faith, so much patience of hope, and so much labor and love."

Mr. Moody was chairman of the General Conference from 1900 to 1932, and it was under his guidance that this historic gathering grew from a localised institution to the internationally known congress that it now is. Among the many famous religious speakers who attended the General Conference under the leadership of Mr. Moody were:—F. B. Meyer, of London; Dr. John H. Jowett, of London; Dr. James Moffatt, Bible translator; Dr. G. Campbell Hutton, of London; Dr. John A. Hutton and Reverend Stuart Holden both of England; Dr. Robert E. Speer, of New York; Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, president Union Theological Seminary; and Dr. Harris E. Kirk.

Mr. William Revell Moody was born in Chicago, March 25, 1869, the second child and first son of Dwight L. and Emma (Revell) Moody. The children, Emma, William, and Paul grew up in Northfield, and William entered Mount Hermon School soon after its inception in 1881 and was graduated with the first class, that of 1887. The father realizing his own lack of formal education resolved that his children should receive sound instruction, and, therefore, after leaving Mount Hermon, William went to Yale and was graduated in 1891. After a brief period of uncertainty regarding his life work, William Revell Moody in 1895 went to live at Mount Hermon School, where, according to the plan of his father, the son should familiarize himself with the workings of the educational institutions established on either bank of the Connecticut. He brought his bride to the newly built home, now called Dwight's Home in honor of their only son, who died an infant.

Mr. Moody's widow, Mary Whittle, is the daughter of the late Major D. W. Whittle, of Chicago, who had been associated with Dwight L. Moody in evangelistic work for many years. She is a gifted singer and composer of gospel hymns, having been editor of several issues of the Northfield Hymnal. She was one of the prime organizers of the Northfield Girls' Conference and also of the Virginia Fresh Air Camp.

With the growth of the schools, William Moody's presence was increasingly required in the central administrative offices of the two schools, and therefore in 1898, the family moved to Northfield. Here, the mother and children were born with the exception of Irene. Upon the death of Dwight L. Moody on December 22, 1899, in his home at East Northfield, the chief work and responsibility of the schools was passed over by the father to the son as a sacred trust. For the first 25 years of this century until his illness in 1925, William R. Moody carried forward the effectiveness of the schools, maintaining his sound principles upon which his father established them, and at the same time adapting them to changing conditions. Largely through his work, his father, D. L. Moody, became better known to this generation as an educator than as an evangelist.

Whereas in 1900, when Mr. Moody took over the administration of the conferences and the schools, the capital investment of the plant and endowment was approximately $1,500,000, in 1926, the total value had reached $5,000,000. And whereas in 1900, fewer than 500 students attended the schools, in 1926, almost 1,200 were in attendance, many coming from distant countries. In addition to his work as president of the Northfield Schools, Mr. Moody was editor from 1900 to 1928 of the Record of Christian Work, a monthly religious periodical featuring the sermons and addresses given during the Northfield Summer Conferences, notably the General Conference over which he himself presided. In recognition of Mr. Moody's educational activities in behalf of the Northfield Schools and conferences, Rutgers University bestowed the honorary degree of doctor of literature upon him in 1921. He wrote two biographies of his father; the first in 1900 called "The Life of Dwight L. Moody by His Son," the second, "D. L. Moody," in 1930. Mr. Moody traveled extensively through this country and Europe, and, after the World War, he wrote a brochure on the Irish question which is still referred to in England as a model of rational logic upon the subject.

The complete list of the Round Top meetings which will be held every night at 7:00 during the General Conference was announced to-day by Mr. A. P. Fitt, former editor of the Record of Christian Work. THURSDAY, AUGUST 2

The second day of the General Conference of Christian Workers being held here on the campus of Northfield Seminary was made notable by a stirring address given by Dr. James Black, of St. George's Church, Edinburgh, Scotland. The subject of his lecture was "Historical Estimates of Christ," and he declared:—"Whatever you think about Jesus is a mark of what you are yourself. Men make a social system, and they attempt to squeeze Jesus into it. The Jews regarded Jesus as a criminal because He did not fit into their social system. Christianity hasn't failed in politics because it has never been tried in politics. Do not quote Jesus as being for or against any social system today; the methods of Jesus have never been tried in any of them."

Dr. Black then went on to develop the various estimates of Christ as the greatest prophet that ever lived, the greatest moral and religious teacher the world has ever known, and the world's most perfect man, but, he asserted, none of these estimates or classifications agree with that of the men who knew Him best. They recognized Him as the son of God, and the strange paradox is that if the claims that Jesus made as to Himself were not true, then He was not the perfect man, and all of these secular estimates of Him are baseless.

"Christ does come," declared Dr. Black, "with an impact upon the social system. He is the world's greatest reformer. However, He did not come only to reform but to save and to give us new life." The speaker then discussed an estimate of Christ which the Church has to fight in Europe, namely, that of "Public enemy number 1." He referred to the Communist doctrine that Christianity is a drug or an opiate, a great injury to the people. This, declared Dr. Black, is a great lie, a bitter injustice; the whole aim of Christianity is to uplift. The reason for this attitude on the part of the Communists, he pointed out, was that the Russian Church had identified themselves with the state. He stated in this case happened to be tyrannical, cruel, and unjust.

"Therefore," declared Dr. Black, "I say to you the Christian Church should never buttress or identify itself with a system of government for when that system is smashed they will try to smash the church with it."

Dr. James Black was last in Northfield in 1911 when Dr. A. T. Robertson, Dr. John Hutton, and Dr. Brown of Fern Park, London, were fellow-speakers with him. He will speak Friday night in the Auditorium at 8.

The complete program for Friday includes a meeting for ministers only by Dr. Robert E. Speer at 9 o'clock in Sage Chapel; a general meeting under the leadership of David R. Porter in Silverthorne Hall at 9:30; a meeting for ministers only at 10 o'clock in Sage Chapel under the leadership of Dr. James Black; a song service in the Auditorium at 10:30 with the famous Westminster double quartet; an address by Dr. Robert E. Speer in the Auditorium at 11:00; a Round Top meeting at 7 p.m. under the guidance of the Reverend W. J. Smith on the subject of World Stewardship; and a general address by Dr. James Black at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium.

It has been announced that the speaker for both the morning and evening services on Saturday will be the Reverend Adam W. Burnet of the Westbourne Church, Glasgow, Scotland. The morning service, which will be held in the Auditorium, begins at 10:45, and the evening service is held at 8 o'clock.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

A Warrant for a Special Town Meeting on August 7 at 8 P.M. at Town Hall has been posted. The following articles are to be voted upon:

The Articles are:—
Article 1—To choose a Moderator to preside at said Meeting.

Article 2—To see if the town will vote to amend the vote taken at the annual town meeting on February 5, 1934, regarding the contract with Board of Public Works, Division of Highways, so that it will read, "Raise and appropriate the sum of $225, per mile for that purpose," or act thereon.

Article 3—To see if the town will vote to appropriate the sum of $500, to pay land damage in connection with the Mount Hermon Station Road, or pass any vote or votes in relation thereto.

Article 4—To see if the town will vote to appropriate the sum of $4000, to add to the Soldiers' Relief Account or pass any vote or votes in relation thereto.

Article 5—To see if the town will vote to appropriate the sum of $4000, to add to the Public Welfare Account, or pass any vote or votes in relation thereto.

Article 6—To see if the town will appoint a committee to investigate the possibility of an addition to the rear of the town hall stage for dressing rooms and storage of stage properties; Committee to submit plans and estimate of cost and report at an adjourned meeting, or act thereon.

In Article II the amount specified is not an increased appropriation from Town Funds but is necessary only because the state has added $50 per mile to the Northfield appropriation and a vote is necessary to clarify the situation and to make it legally possible for the money to be accepted and spent.

Article 6 will be more thoroughly explained at the meeting and as a result of a situation which has arisen in the past few weeks.

BENEFIT CONCERT

Next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 a concert for the benefit of Virginia Camp will be held in the Auditorium at East Northfield. The program planned is of unusual merit and will be enjoyed by young people as well as their elders.

Artists who are kind enough to assist in the program include A. M. Carapetian, who has a summer engagement at the Northfield, and is a violin virtuoso well-known in New York and Boston, as well as on the radio; Albert Raymond of Boston, baritone soloist, always a favorite in Northfield; Gordon A. Curtis, grandson of the late Dr. Arthur T. Pierson, and minister of Music at West Chester, Pa.; and Carlton L'Honnemieu, of the Music faculty at Mount Hermon School. Numbers will also be given by the Westminster Double Quartet, Louise Andrews Camp, and Virginia Camp. In addition a special treat is in store in the participation of Collins Bain, Scottish tenor. Mr. Bain and his wife are visiting Northfield for the first time, and staying at the Valley Vista. He hails from the banks of Loch Lomond, and specializes in Scottish, English and Irish songs, although of course his repertoire includes all the great tenor arias and other numbers. He came to America eight years ago while recuperating from the effects of a gas attack during the war. Under the competent help of the prominent vocal coach of New York, Mme. Ida Haggerty-Snell, Mr. Bain's voice was restored and further trained. He has a high tenor voice of robust, satisfying texture, which has been heard on the concert stage and over the radio.

There will be no admission charge to the concert in the Auditorium, but a free will offering will be taken toward the local expenses and upkeep of Virginia Camp. The New York City Mission Society pays the carfare for over 120 girls from the needier sections of New York City.

EDITORIAL

One of the laugh-making gags of the famous "Amos 'n' Andy" radio team has been Andy's habit of going in for vast imaginative financial flights, in which he mutters, "One million, two million, five million," and so on, in figuring impossible profits on some fantastic scheme.

Many present-day plans presented to long-suffering citizens and taxpayers by high-pressure politicians, are reminiscent of Andy. The public officials talk of one billion, five billion, or ten billion dollars without regard for the sources from which the money is to come. They issue bonds—and hope that public treasuries will be able to meet them when they fall due. Like Andy, they look forward to a rosy future in which dollars will grow on trees, and budgetary difficulties will be a thing of the past.

It is easy for those who hold comfortable governmental jobs, and are spending money that belongs to someone else, to figure in millions and billions. But the people, like Andy's creditors, are becoming skeptical. They know that political extravagances mean that taxes must soar in the future—they are beginning to realize that means that businesses and individuals will have less money with which to build factories and homes and employ labor, and buy the articles commerce and agriculture must sell if they are to survive. They begin to understand that money is diverted from productive business when investors are afraid of extortionate taxes and hide their money in tax-free government bonds where it does nothing to keep the machinery of trade in motion.

Too many of us think of those billions as we think of the far planets—they seem to have nothing to do with us. We should think of them as barriers to employment, to industrial expansion, to recovery. It is a historical fact that excessive expensive government is the best ally of depression.

Yes! We do need more "Amos" and less "Andy" in every division of government.

Editor:—
The Northfield Herald
I have an announcement which I wish you could find room to insert for this week's issue of the Herald.

The Annual Meeting of the WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS POSTMASTERS' ASSOCIATION will be held at Hotel Northfield, at East Northfield, Mass., on Tuesday, August 7th, 1934. The Central Massachusetts Postmasters' Assn. have been invited to attend this meeting, and several from that organization will be here. President Carl D. Thacher, Postmaster at Housatonic, Mass., will preside at the Business Meeting. W. James Williams, Postmaster at Great Barrington, Mass., is the Secretary and Treasurer of the Association. The Business Meeting will be held at 12 o'clock, when the officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and other important business completed. Dinner will be at 1:30 P.M. and following the dinner, opportunity will be given to those who play golf, cards, or who care to take a tour of the Mount Hermon School, or of Northfield Seminary. It is expected that there will be forty or more at this meeting.

Yours sincerely,
MERRITT C. SKILTON
Postmaster.

SOFT BALL

Soft Ball made its appearance for the first time last Tuesday night when about 30 men young and old from Hinsdale came up to Northfield to play the new game. The rain interfered somewhat but it was a wild and woolly game while it lasted.

There are plenty of rules and trick plays. We are going to try once more to get a group together to play here. Games are promised with Keene, Hinsdale, Northampton and Greenfield if we can get 10 men to play. Next Tuesday night we will try again. Everybody out. It's lots of fun. Age is no barrier in this game.

The movement to permit the entry of educational films without payment of customs, duties or tariff is making progress. Twenty-five countries, including the United States, have signed the Geneva Treaty to that effect.

Garden Club

The Executive and Flower Show Committees of the Northfield Garden Club, met with Mr. Beeler at the Chateau last Saturday evening, to plan further details for the Show.

Mr. Beeler, Editor of the Herald outlined plans for publicity and for gaining the co-operation of outside exhibitors. Two fine prizes have already been donated, and Mr. Beeler feels confident that several more will be obtained. These prizes will be awarded to amateur gardeners, the florists and other exhibiting for advertising purposes only.

All exhibits must be at the Chateau by 11 A. M. Tuesday, August 21st. The judging will take place from 11:30 to 2:30, when the doors will open to the public. The Show will continue throughout the afternoon and evening of the first day, opening for the second day at 10 A. M., and closing at 6 P. M. Rules for entry and the name of the Chairman of the Entry and Registration Committee will be published in the next edition of the Herald. It is hoped that by that time also, the Entry Blanks will be available and notices will be given as to where they may be obtained.

The Formal Garden at the Chateau is to be put in first class condition and will be lighted with Japanese lanterns. The Chateau Tea Room, also will be open and extra tables placed on the lawn, where light refreshments will be served.

A special meeting of the Garden Club was held Tuesday evening in Library Hall. 34 were present. The plans to date for the Flower Show were talked over, and Mr. Beeler, the Editor of the Northfield Herald, spoke of his plans for prizes. He explained that by his method, not only does the Show benefit, but also does the prizewinners.

It is hoped that by next week, most of the plans for the Show will be complete, and definite information will be available along all lines, both for club members and exhibitors.

Lake Pleasant

The opening at Lake Pleasant Sunday of the 62nd annual camp meeting of the New England Spiritualist Association was marked by excellent audiences at all three services. The speaker for the day was Mr. Harold Alderson, a noted lecturer and psychic of the spiritualist cult and a former Councillor of Blackpool, England. Mr. Alderson spoke in the forenoon upon the subject The Ancient and Modern Mystic and in the afternoon on The Growth of a Great Truth and followed both discourses with psychic messages and a message service in the evening.

During the day the solos of Mrs. Rose E. Manchester of Cassadaga, Florida, accompanied by Mrs. June Schneider of New York, were a pleasing feature of the services.

The dance at the Temple Saturday night was the largest attended that has been held this season, though as usual the dancers were somewhat late in arriving. The playing of the Ambassadors, especially the waltzes, is enjoyed not only by the dancers but by a large number of spectators who assemble solely to listen to the music.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Adele C. Williams of Boston will conduct the message service in the Temple and Mrs. Josephine M. Simon of Hartford will be the psychic at the Thursday night service. Next Sunday one of the most popular psychics among the spiritualists, Mrs. Isabel Bradley of Chicago and Boston will present the message work at all three services and Rev. Albert P. Blinn will precede her with lectures in the forenoon and afternoon.

At the annual meeting of the National Spiritual Alliance, held at its Temple Friday morning, the following candidates were nominated for office, to be acted upon at the annual conference in September:—For president William O. Whitcher, Lake Pleasant, vice-presidents Albert Pearce of Youngstown, Ohio, Rev. Gertrude Burke of Portsmouth, N. H., Mrs. Jessie Bellegarde of Schenectady, N. Y. treasurer Mrs. Rena T. Kieth of Lake Pleasant, directors Georgina V. LaRoche of Worcester, Margaret Forrester, Philadelphia, Pa. Walter Nellis Schenectady, Rev. Elizabeth Benjamin of Kansas City, Mo. and Miriam A. Arons of Jersey City, N. J.

Director Monroe S. Burt and his son Amasa Burt and family arrived from Greenport, Long Island Saturday and have opened the Burt cottage on Turner Street for the season.

The Independent Order of Scalpers congregated at its Long House Saturday night and formally opened its season with the annual observance of the "Trail through the Forest." Members were present from New York, Bridgeport, Hartford, Athol, Springfield, Orange, Boston, Greenfield, Turners Falls and Lake Pleasant. Supper was served at the end of the trail.

"My daughter is a better cook than I am!"

"When my daughter married she didn't know the first thing about cooking, but I've been amazed at her progress ever since.

"Father and I had dinner at her house not long ago and she served us a 'Garden Roast' that was positively delicious.

"I asked her for the recipe and tried it myself, and while mine came out very good, it didn't taste quite the same as hers did... didn't have quite the same flavor.

"Of course, she says it is her electric range that gives the food that added flavor—the heavily insulated oven sealing in all the natural juices of the meats and vegetables.

"After testing and tasting for myself, I'm beginning to believe that modern electric cookery is the ideal method.

"I've made my mind up to investigate further... Father and I are going to the electric range dealer tomorrow."

It will pay you, too, to investigate—your local dealer will gladly explain the possibilities of the electric range; and, by the way, ask him to tell you of his free installation offer... you'll find it very advantageous... see him today.

New England Is Thoroughly Aroused

Great Enthusiasm Over Coming National Grange Session at Hartford

A great New England reaction is seen to the approaching session of the National Grange, due in Hartford November 14-22, and this entire section of the Grange field is thoroughly aroused over the coming event. Already several sixth degree meetings have been held in the different states, and the number of candidates there presenting themselves for the sixth degree is a sure index to what may be expected when the class for the Seventh Degree is assembled at Hartford on November 16.

In Connecticut more than 2,000 Grange members have thus far received the sixth degree in anticipation of the Seventh; in New Jersey, 300; in New Hampshire, nearly 350; while in the other states of the group, although none of these special meetings have yet been held, the degree of interest expressed promises great classes. In the expectancy of a Seventh Degree class at Hartford of at least 15,000 candidates, it is of interest to note the quotas which the six New England states have set for themselves:—Connecticut, 7,000; Massachusetts, 6,000; New Hampshire, 2,000; Maine, 1,500; Rhode Island, 1,200; Vermont, 1,000.

Announcement is made that Governor Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut has tendered the National Grange the use of the big corridor of the State Capitol at Hartford for registration purposes during the first week of the session. This will greatly facilitate the handling of the big crowds, especially of Seventh Degree candidates, since the State House is located directly across from Bushnell Memorial Auditorium, where the Seventh Degree will be conferred.

Plans for the big agricultural and industrial exhibit at Hartford, to be staged in connection with the National Grange session, indicate a far more extensive showing than was first planned. Nearly 200 separate exhibits will be set up, covering a wide range of Connecticut productions, and many large concerns are not only going to make exhibits of their products, but are planning demonstrations showing the many interesting processes involved. This exhibit will be held in the State Armory, one of the largest buildings of the sort in New England.

Not only are countless bus parties being organized all over New England to go to Hartford in November, but groups of Grange members in Maine are considering the plan of taking through sleepers from Bangor to Hartford, picking up along the way, and retaining the sleepers during their stay in Hartford, for sleeping accommodations.

Special low rates on all New England railroads are to be available for the Hartford convention and the number of private cars which will carry Grange members to Hartford will run into the thousands.

Upwards of 1,000,000 adults attended school of some kind in the United States in 1932-34, a movement which presents a most hopeful outlook for the national welfare and the individual.

Many schools were established for the 300,000 C.C.C. workers toward the last half of the school year for 1933-34.

INTERESTING DAYS

Dr. John Firman Coare, author of many serious books along his special line, Germanic language and literature, was born of American parents in Berlin, Germany, on July 26, 1868. He is a professor at the University of Alberta at Edmonton now.Sir George Biddle Airy, Astronomer Royal for nearly half a century, was born July 27, 1801, at Alnwick. He had charge of the Cambridge observatory from the time of its erection. His nine volumes of "Observations" made there, because of their clearness and simplicity, have served as a model for those of Greenwich ever since.James C. Batchelor, native of Quebec and 9th Grand Commander of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of the Southern Jurisdiction, died in Washington, D. C., on July 28, 1893, at the ripe age of 75.Twenty years ago on July 29 the Austrians shelled Belgrade, the first bombing of the World War.The world famous composer Johann Sebastian Bach died at Leip-sic July 30, 1750.On July 31, the appropriate twilight hymn to sing with the children would be "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," for on that day, in 1871, the author, Miss Phoebe Cary, died at Newport, R. I.Three special things I'd call your attention to for Aug. 1: It was the day, twenty years ago, that Germany declared war on Russia; the state of Colorado observes it as a holiday, being the anniversary of the state's admission to the union in 1876; and 20 years before that, in Rodman, N.
Y., on that day was born Charles Sumner Woolworth, who started the great chain of 5c and 10c

FOUR GOOD PICKLE RULES

This is a good time to exchange pickle recipes with your neighbors.
Here are four for you I have gathered: Watermelon Rind, French Pickle, Ripe Tomatoes, and Sweet Ripe Cucumber Pickles.

PICKLED WATERMELON RIND

One of the "Things Mother Used to Make" is this pickle — which must be kept a week before it is ready to use. Pare off all the green an drink, leaving only white rind, cut in big squares. Cover with water and add a pinch of alum.
Set it away 24 hrs., then drain off the water. Heat boiling hot enough vinegar to cover the rinds, adding 1 teaspoon whole allspice, cloves, and white mustard seed before heating, and pour boiling hot over the rinds. For three successive days, pour off the vinegar and reheat, then stand rinds in it a week.

FRENCH PICKLE

Mrs. Wilbur Griffith of Fond du Lac, Wis., made her French pickle by this rule: Slice 6 large onions and 1 pk green tomatoes, and sprinkle through them 1 teaspoon of salt. Let stand over night, drain, then boil in the morning in 2 qts.
water and 1 qt. vinegar. In 1-2 hr.
take off fire and drain through colander. To 4 qts. vinegar add 2 lbs. brown sugar, 1-2 lb. white mustard seed, 2 tablespoons each of cloves, ginger and black pepper and 1-2 teaspoon cayenne pepper.
Boil till onions and tomatoes are tender.

RIPE TOMATO PICKLE

This recipe I know to be at least 80 years old, treasured and handed down from generation to generation of good cooks in the Dickerman family.Put small ripe tomatoes in a jar.
Make a syrup of sugar, vinegar and cloves, about 2 lbs. sugar to 1-2 pt. vinegar. Scald the sugar, spice and vinegar together and let it get cold before pouring it over the tomatoes.SWEET RIPE CUCUMBER PICKLEBig sister's sweet ripe cucumber pickles were made by soaking her ripe cucumbers 24 hrs. in brine, then boiling them till tender, and adding 3 pts. vinegar for each 6 cucumbers, 3 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon cloves, allspice and cinnamon.

ANCHOVY EGGS

Try this for breakfast: Butter the inside of as many cups as you need eggs, and sprinkle in chopped parsley, grated lemon peel, salt and pepper. Break an egg into each cup, taking care to keep the yolks whole. Set in a pan of hot water in the oven, and steam till the eggs are set. Cut the crusts from circles of delicately toasted bread, spread with anchovy paste, and turn out an egg on each, and serve hot.

SNOW BALLS

Cream 1-2 cup shortening with 1 cup sugar, a little at a time, and add slowly 1-2 cup milk, and

AT ROCKINGHAM

New England race fans rarin' to get a tip on what three-year-old trotter will cop the $40,000 Hambletonian Stake August 15 will get their best dope, along with the thrills of their life, when Rockingham Park during its Grand Circuit meeting, Aug. 1-11, parades the same crack fields of flashy steppe in the American and National Stakes.

Divided between the first and second weeks of what promises to be New England's best Roaring Grand speed card in 10 years comes the $6,000 American Stake, scheduled to be raced between August 1-4; and the $6,500 National Stake, due to draw unprecedented crowds to Rockingham August 6-11.

This year, only the second season of which these sensational dress rehearsals to the Hambletonian have been trotted, 12 feet three-year-olds will flash in the American Stake and 14 strut their stuff in the National Stake. Both events, sponsored by the Trotting Horse Club of America, are the final preliminaries to the Hambletonian Stake, giving New Englanders a front row chance to see in action the greatest field of three-year-olds ever campaigning on the major league trotting loop.

Picking the winner of the Hambletonian from the Rockingham Park stakes is more fact than fancy. Last year, when the trotting track at Salem, N. H., scored a heavy triumph with fandon, Brown Berry won the American Stake, with Harry Reynolds second. When the National was raced the tables were turned and Harry Reynolds won, with Brown Berry second. With honors equally divided at Rockingham, these two great trotters battled evenly in the Hambletonian at Goshen until Brown Berry's tragic stumble in the final heat.

This year, such aces as Emily Stokes, Reynolds, Bertha C. Hanover and Muscletone will fight it out in both the American and National Stakes before settling their 1934 feud at Goshen.

Winchester

Mr. James Bolton, eldest member and host, who has been critically ill for several weeks, was unable to take part in the activities of the day, but was, however, able to greet his guests in his room from which he also was enabled to watch the proceedings through his open doorway. The usual bountiful repast was served, buffet style, on the wide lawn, under the supervision of Mrs. Irwin Severance of Northfield and Mrs. Harold Davis of Winchester, after which a short business session was held, with the president, Mrs. Leon Davis in charge. Officers and committees for the following year were elected and appointed. Forrest Bolton of Greenfield was elected president; Mrs. Forest Bolton, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Lee Bolton and Mrs. Arthur Bolton, dinner committee; Mr. Edward Bolton and Mr. Fred Bolton, nominating committee; and Mrs. Robert Hall of Springfield and Mrs. Fred Kendrick of Hinsdale, entertainment.

A short memorial service for members who have passed away, was held, during which time, an original poem, "Reunion," was read by Mrs. Fred Kendrick. Following roll-call, an interesting program was enjoyed, directed by the Misses Dorothy and Lucille Bolton. Several of the younger children spoke pieces; Bob Hall sang "I Love to Spend This Sunday with You," a parody on Eddie Cantor's theme song, which was well received. Mrs. Robert Hall read an excellent paper on the "Origin and Purpose of the Bolton Re-union." Patricia Kendrick sang, "Alice in Wonderland," and Lucille Bolton gave a splendid biographical sketch of Queen Elizabeth. During the business meeting, when such things as correspondence have to be looked after, a letter of greeting was read from the youngest member of the group, who found it inconvenient to be present this year. He is James Herbert Bolton, and he was just eleven days old and was still confined to his bed in the hospital after his advent into this grand and troublous world. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bolton of Ashuelot, and the grandson of James Bolton of the homestead.

Moving pictures were taken during the day, by Richard Holton of Wood Haven, N. Y. The pictures of last year's gathering, were not shown because of the state of Mr. Bolton's health. They will probably be shown sometime during the year. One of the older members, Mr. Herbert Bolton, brother of James passed away during the past year. James Bolton will soon celebrate his ninety-third birthday. A sister, Mrs. Ida Shaw, was unable to attend the re-union this year.

GRENFELL INDUSTRIES EXHIBIT HERE
Grenfell Labrador Industries will be displayed and sold on Friday, August 10th, at the Northfield, under the direction of Mr. A. Gordon Moody. Miss Sheila Hayes and Miss Theodosia Hawley will drive the Grenfell Labrador Industries truck to East Northfield and assist with the sale. Miss Hayes is an English girl who has been associated with the Grenfell Mission work on the Labrador coast and is now assistant manager of Grenfell Labrador Industries' "Connecticut Dog Team Tea House" at Oxford, Connecticut. Miss Hawley's home is in Bridgeport, Connecticut, and she has given two summers of volunteer service with the Grenfell Mission at St. Anthony, Newfoundland.

The Labrador handicraft articles are both useful and attractive. They include hooked, woven and knit goods, carved ivory, wooden toys and sealskin and deerskin articles. A feature is the Grenfell Cloth so remarkably adapted for both summer and winter sports because of its windproof quality that it was worn by members of the party that has come nearest to conquering Mt. Everest and is worn frequently for sailing, shooting and ski-ing.

The handicraft department under the supervision of which all these articles are made, is located on the northern Newfoundland and Labrador coast, has become a vital part of the work Dr. Grenfell started among the isolated fishermen of the North more than forty years ago. Labrador women are naturally handy and have inherited from their Anglo-Saxon forebears the ability to hook rugs of the finest texture, designed sometimes by themselves and sometimes by Sir Wilfred Grenfell; weave beautiful rugs on hand looms generations old and knit gay mitts and socks from left-over bits of material they have on hand. Disabled men carve walrus ivory or paint wooden toys. Some of the most charming designs for the use of the native soapstone have been developed by boys whose only education has been in the schools the Grenfell Mission has been able to establish. This work supplies one of the greatest needs of this people, remunerative labor for the times when the fish fail, for they do not want charity so much as a chance to help themselves to food and clothing.

Dr. Grenfell's first work was medical. Now the Grenfell Mission has five hospitals along the 1800 miles of coast it serves: three schools, until Lockwood School was destroyed by fire a month ago; and maintains a year-around staff of 65 surgeons, dentists, nurses, school teachers and dietitians in addition to nearly 100 young men and women who do most of the manual labor during the summers when they volunteer to serve without pay and give their own expenses. During the past five summer seasons excellent short tourist cruises to northern Newfoundland and a bit of Labrador, with stops at four of the Grenfell stations, have been maintained by the Clarke Steamship Company of Montreal and Quebec.

Sir Wilfred and Lady Grenfell are well known at Northfield from their visits there as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Moody. Mr. Elliott Speer spent a summer at Saddle Harbor, the original site of Dr. Grenfell's work. Northfield was represented at Lady Grenfell's Labrador Bazaar at the Copley Plaza in Boston in 1932 by a "Northfield Booth," and several residents of Northfield are members of New England Grenfell Association which supports Sir Wilfred Grenfell's work.

MISSION TO THE LEPERS

Friends of the American Mission to Lepers are invited to attend a gathering in the Auditorium at East Northfield, Mass., on Tuesday afternoon, August 7, at 3 o'clock (Daylight Saving Time.)

The leading address will be given by Dr. Albert D. Helser, who will take us into the jungles of Nigeria, West Africa, to see how Christ's healing touch is remaking men, women and little children burdened with the age-old scourge of leprosy, in the leper colony of which he is founder and superintendent. It is a thrilling, constructive story.

There will be no collection. We trust you will find it convenient to be present, and to extend this invitation to others. Further, an invitation is given you by the Northfield authorities to attend other sessions of the General Conference that day. There are meetings at 9, 10, 11, 7, and 8 o'clock, in addition to the 3 o'clock meeting devoted to the alleviation of the curse of leprosy. Friends who bring a box lunch will find accommodations and cold drinks at the Refreshment Pavilion near the Auditorium.

LITTLE AMERICA AVIATION and EXPLORATION CLUB

With Byrd at the South Pole
by C.A. Mott Jr. President
U.S.N.A.
A DANGEROUS TRIP!

This tractor, with new body, will carry five men on history's most amazing trip.

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, CA, July 20 (via Mackay Radio)—Tomorrow night! The start of the most astonishing journey ever made by mankind! An intrepid group of five men will leave here in a little French tractor, braving the Antarctic winter night, howling blizzards, temperatures of 60 and 75 degrees below zero, drifts of snow 40 and 50 feet deep and a wilderness of bottomless crevasses covered with thin shells of snow. They will attempt to go 123 miles down to Boiling Advance Base at Latitude 80.13 South to get Admiral Byrd out of his tiny buried hut and bring him back to the civilization of Little America. And probably two of the number will remain there to make meteorological observations until the sun comes back to us on August 23. Some undertaking, eh?

The trip is bristling with deadly dangers, not the least of which is the possibility that the trail, marked out last February with little orange colored flags on bamboo sticks, has been obliterated by the howling, swirling blizzards. And am I busy! The success of the trip and the lives of the men will depend entirely upon the efficient functioning of the Little tractor, and the quality and operation of the gasoline and lubricating oil. As fuel engineer I feel a great sense of responsibility. I have had to drop my aviation work and assist Pete Demas, of Washington, D. C., and Bernard W. Skinner, of Winthrop, Me., in the preparation of the tractors for the trip. While only one tractor will start, two others will be held in readiness to go to its rescue at a moment's notice. The leader of the trip will be Dr. Thomas C. Foulter, of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, and with him will be Skinner, who is a tractor driver, Amory H. Walte, Jr., radio operator of Wollaston, Mass., and two others whose names haven't been announced as yet.

Every possible precaution is being taken. The tractor engines have been completely overhauled. The cab bodies I told you about previously have been reconstructed to make each tractor a self-contained travelling unit. Every mechanical detail has been checked and rechecked. The tractors are mechanically as perfect as human ingenuity and skill can make them. The extreme temperatures to which the machines will be subjected have introduced two problems, that of gasoline vaporization and lubrication. The gasoline tanks have been thoroughly washed and filled with the wonderful fuel Admiral Byrd selected for this greatest of automotive Polar expeditions. Each tractor has a capacity of 175 gallons of gasoline, carried in two tanks. The radiators have been provided with covers and all openings in the engine compartments have been practically sealed in order to keep the carburetors and intake manifold as warm as possible. The exhaust manifolds have been deflected so that they exhaust directly against the differential housing which will insure sufficient heat in the differential to provide a continuous circulation of oil. On each machine a special oil tank has been mounted in the engine compartment over the engine. A pipe runs from this tank to the crankcase. Heat from the engine keeps this oil warm at all times and when it becomes necessary to refuel the oil is the crankcase the operator will only have to open a petcock and run in a sufficient quantity.

Here is one of the most interesting mechanical points of this trip. Two special gasoline stoves generating an extremely high heat are being taken along. When the engine stoves for any reason whatever these stoves will be lighted immediately and placed underneath the engine and the differential. This trip is the first of its kind ever attempted and is both formidable and hazardous. I hope to tell you a lot more about it next week. This is the beginning of a lot of exciting adventures in which I want all you club members to share. Get out your maps and mark this strange journey on it when I give you the details of it later. If you are not a member of the club, now is a swell time to join. It costs nothing. Simply send a clearly self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at the club's American headquarters and the staff there will send you entirely free, a beautiful big working map of Antarctica and a membership card. YES, MOTHER

"I've just got the children in bed
—they're all well, and very lively —Yes, I'm a little tired, but it rests me to talk to you — Everything going well with you?"

WHEN far from home it's comforting to believe that all's well, but it's reassuring to know.

Approximately 500 words may be exchanged in a 3-minute telephone call, and that's quite a chat. Only those who exchange these words can appraise their worth. Sometimes they're priceless, but the cost is always relatively small.

To illustrate the low cost of toll calls during the night hour period, the following typical rates are cited for a 3-minute station-to-station call (that is, a call by number) after 8:30 p.m. from

54th ANNUAL NORTHFIELD GENERAL CONFERENCE

Founded---1880 by DWIGHT LYMAN MOODY

Co-chairmen---1934---Paul D. Moody---John R. Mott, August 1, '12---Northfield Seminary Campus

PAUL D. MOODY

Youngest son of the founder, is president of Middlebury College. He was associated for several years with his brother William Revell Moody in the leadership of the General Conference.

1837

DWIGHT LYMAN MOODY

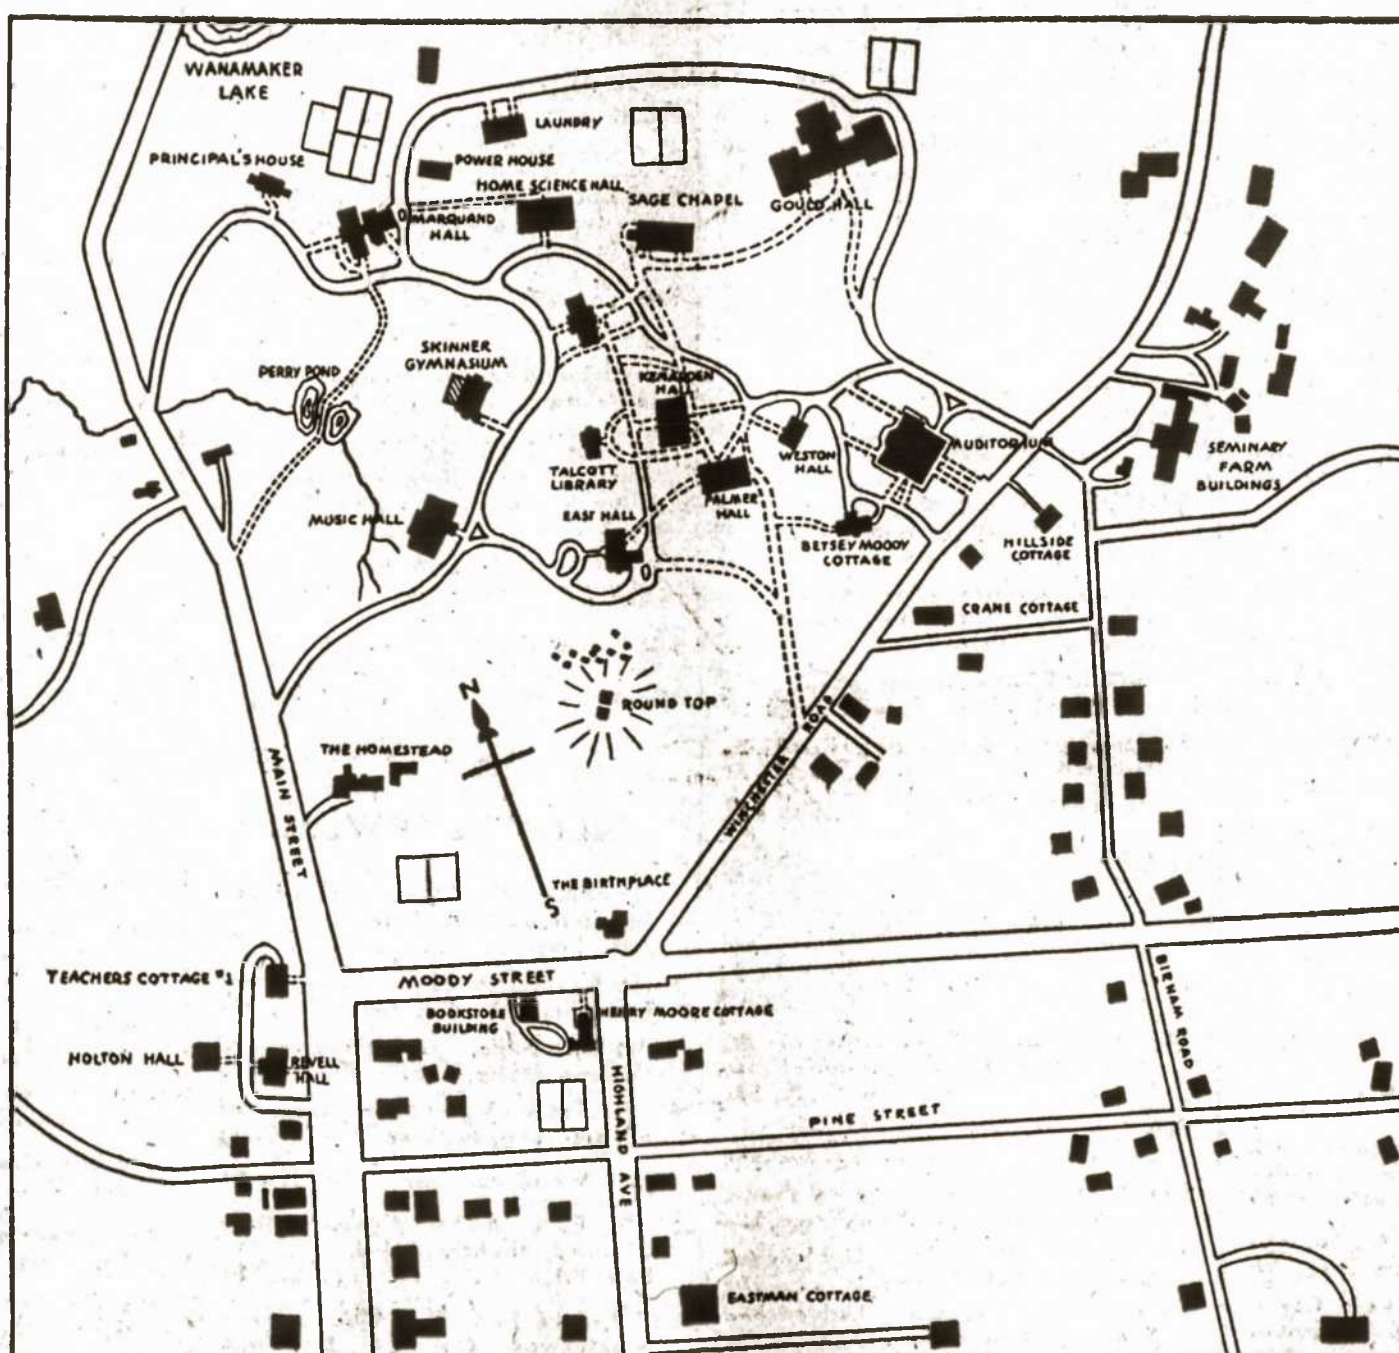

JOHN R. MOTT

For many years secretary of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., is now chairman of the International Missionary Council. Early association with D. L. Moody at Northfield laid the basis for his career and for his magnificent contribution to the Christian enterprise. Dr. Mott is hastening his return from a trip to Africa to preside at this Conference.

ADAM W. BURNET

Minister of Westbourne Church, Glasgow, a popular speaker at the Northfield General Conference for several years. He has preached at some of our leading churches during previous visits to this country.

D. L. MOODY'S DREAM REALIZED

Map of Northfield Seminary campus showing the location of principal buildings

DAVID R. PORTER

Who in 1915 succeeded Dr. Mott as secretary of the student division of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., and who has recently joined the Northfield staff as head of the Bible Department at Mount Hermon School.

ROBERT E. SPEER

Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions is another of the great Christian statesmen whose career was guided by early association with D. L. Moody.

P. WHITWELL WILSON

Former member of the British Parliament and London newspaper feature writer, now a resident of New York. He is a writer on the New York Times staff, and is the author of many books.

JAMES M. BLACK

Minister of St. George's West, Edinburgh, author of many books, and one of the foremost preachers of Scotland. He was last at Northfield as a young man in 1911.

WESTMINSTER DOUBLE QUARTET

CHARLES E. JEFFERSON

Honorary minister of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, which he served as pastor for 32 years. He is the author of more than 30 books, and has often spoken from the Northfield platform.

THE AUDITORIUM

When D. L. Moody built the Auditorium in 1894 some were inclined to regard it as "Moody's Folly." We know to-day that its seating capacity of 2500 is none too large and even at the first meeting hundreds were turned away for lack of standing room. Many of the world's outstanding Christian leaders have spoken from its platform.

THE BEAUTIFUL
NORTHFIELD SEMINARY
CAMPUS

It was D. L. Moody's plan that the buildings on the campus should be in use every possible moment. With Northfield Seminary in session from September to June and conferences meeting from June to August there are very few days when the facilities are not in use.
